

Dec 02, 2014 00:00 GMT

Norwegian artist honoured by Northumbria University

Northumbria University, Newcastle has today cemented its relationship with one of Scandinavia's most distinguished landscape artists by awarding an honorary degree to celebrated artist, Ørnulf Opdahl.

Drawing inspiration from the dramatic Norwegian landscape, Ørnulf's works can be found hanging in many public and private collections around the world - with royalty counted among some of his most enthusiastic patrons. His paintings have been the subject of two exhibitions at Northumbria University's galleries – both in London and, most recently, earlier this summer in Newcastle.

Born in 1944 in Norway's biggest fishing town, Ålesund, Ørnulf's father worked in the family fishing business – as had his father before him.

Ørnulf began to develop his interest in art when aged about 12 years old. At 15, he attended a craft school in painting before moving to Norway's capital, Oslo, to study at the Academy of the Arts. He settled in Oslo for several years, but the lure of the landscape with the mountains, the sea and the fjords was so strong that in 1971, he moved his family to Godøy, near to Ålesund.

The 1970s saw Ørnulf establish a reputation as one of the leading painters of his generation with regular exhibitions in Oslo.

He was appointed professor at the Norwegian National Academy of Fine Arts from 1985 until 1992 and continues to teach there as a visiting professor. He is also an advisor to the Norwegian Royal Palace and has been extensively involved in activities, which have promoted the fine arts, young artists and cultural heritage over many years.

The recipients of honorary degrees are nominated by the University's staff for their achievements, their links to the University – and for their sheer inspirational qualities.

Ørnulf Opdahl received his degree as Honorary Doctor of Civil Law during a ceremony today, alongside students graduating from Arts, Design and Social Sciences programmes.

Northumbria is a research-rich, business-focussed, professional university with a global reputation for academic excellence. To find out more about our courses go to www.northumbria.ac.uk

If you have a media enquiry please contact our Media and Communications team at media.communications@northumbria.ac.uk or call 0191 227 4571.

Contacts

Rik Kendall

Press Contact

PR and Media Manager

Business and Law / Arts, Design & Social Sciences

rik.kendall@northumbria.ac.uk

07923 382339

Andrea Slowey

Press Contact

PR and Media Manager

Engineering and Environment / Health and Life Sciences

andrea.slowey@northumbria.ac.uk

07708 509436

Rachael Barwick

Press Contact

PR and Media Manager

rachael.barwick@northumbria.ac.uk

07377422415

James Fox

Press Contact

Student Communications Manager

james2.fox@northumbria.ac.uk

Kelly Elliott

Press Contact

PR and Media Officer

kelly2.elliott@northumbria.ac.uk

Gemma Brown

Press Contact

PR and Media Officer

gemma6.brown@northumbria.ac.uk